

SPORTFACK

PRICELIST PRINT 2023

Sweden's leading magazine for the sports industry

NOW WE REACH ALL RETAILERS

Starting in 2023, we will double the edition of the printed publication with the goal of reaching all of Sweden's sports and outdoor retailers. Both block chains and small expert stores. For almost 30 years, Sportfack has reviewed and written about the sports industry. Now we are taking the next step and turn the magazine fully advertising-financed. Simultaneously, we will invest a lot more into sportfack.se, in order to evolve our digital journalism.

In 2023, we will publish 7 printed editions plus the "Sportregister catalogue". We also publish a weekly newsletter and are active on LinkedIn.

Suppliers, chains and independent stores all benefit from reading Sportfack. Here they can find information regarding industry news, trends, new products, statistics and new materials. Beyond that, they can read about the people behind the news and the brands.

Sportfack wants to inspire, by constantly highlighting the good example. But we also ask the difficult questions and make an effort to leave no stone unturned. As a trade journal, we are quite unique, with a high reading time per article - with a dedicated readership.

Our main objective is that everyone who reads Sportfack will have knowledge about the business and feel that they are in the loop.

And from 2023 a record number of recipients will take part of both content and advertising messages.

ADVERTISEMENT

- 43 percent state that the ads in the print magazine are useful to them and 65 percent state that the ads about new products are inspiring.
- 58 percent think that the ads on sportfack.se are useful to them.
- 66 percent think that the ads for new products on sportfack.se are inspiring.
- The job advertisements are also very much appreciated by the readers and have a high reading value. More people use sportfack.se as the primary source for job advertisements than, for example, LinkedIn. The job advertisements are also included in our weekly newsletter.

EDITORIAL

- The magazine's content is considered to provide in-depth knowledge for 90 percent of the readers and is perceived as inspiring by 96 percent.
- 78 percent spend 11–30 minutes reading a new issue.
- The rating for the content (the recurring segments) in the magazine is on a points scale of 7–10 (where 10 is the maximum).
- A majority of the readers have some form of purchasing responsibility.
- 88 percent consider that the articles on sportfack.se give them in-depth knowledge.
- 92 percent consider that the articles on sportfack.se give them general knowledge of the industry.

BUSINESS MARKET

Business Market is an opportunity to market your brand and to tell about your products in Sportfack. Many suppliers have wanted to showcase several of their products on Sportfack's editorial pages, so we have developed the Business Market, where you own a complete spread.

On the left you will present 1–6 products in text and image and on the right side your ad will be placed to put the products in a context. You choose which products to display, but Sportfack's editorial team writes the product texts based on your backgrounds and designs all product pages in a recognizable way for our readers. This is because texts and images will get the same appeal as in the newspaper, thus increasing credibility.

Examples of Business Market spreads.

MATERIAL

The editorial staff needs high-resolution images of the products, preferably exposed, as well as information about the products. Catalog texts work well, but please complete it with information about the target group and what really unique with the product. Lastly, there is also a need for the correct logo for the brand.
